

ITCHING ECZEMA

In July, 1893, I began to break out with eczema on my head, legs and arms, and began treatment with local doctors, but did not get much relief. They said the disease had become chronic. I then quit them and tried various ointments and soaps for another two years, but as soon as cold weather came I was as bad off as ever, so I finally decided to let medicine alone, and for twelve or thirteen years did nothing towards curing the Eczema, except bathing. This seemed to do about as much good as anything I had tried.

During the time I lost about one-half of my hair. I began S. S. S. doubtful of a cure, because the disease had run so long, but soon discovered your medicine was doing me good, and continued to take it. I used seven bottles, when I was completely cured, not having a single spot on my body, which before was almost completely covered.

The head, feet and hands are usually the parts affected, though the disease appears on other parts of the body. While external applications allay the itching and burning temporarily, it is the acids thrown off by the blood that cause the irritation and eruptions upon the skin. The acids must be neutralized and the system cleansed of all humors and poisons before the cure is permanent. S. S. S. is guaranteed entirely free of Potash, Arsenic and other minerals. Book on the skin and its diseases sent free. Medical advice furnished free.

PREVENTED A MASSACRE.

American Consul at Harput Turned Aside Turkish Vengeance.

New York, Nov. 5.—A recent disturbance between Moslems and Armenians in Van, Turkey, would in all likelihood have grown into a riot and perhaps a massacre of Armenians, had it not been for the presence of the American consul from Harput, Dr. Thomas H. Norton.

Details of the trouble are learned from advices just received by the Presbyterian board of foreign missions. It seems that the trouble was started by the deposition of four Moslem officials by the Vail, and for the purpose of avenging themselves by making trouble for him, the four and their friends started gun firing in the streets, in which one Moslem was killed.

The soldiers in the city, already in a half rebellious state, took up the matter and marched through the streets shooting at Christians. The whole place was thrown into an uproar of fear and excitement and a thousand Armenians fled to the missionary compound.

The English consul was absent, but it happened that Dr. Norton was there and the American flag was flying over the mission compound. With the French and Russian consuls and several American missionaries, Dr. Norton called on the Vail. The latter assured them of his ability to control the situation, but there was doubt as to whether he could do so, especially as it seemed likely that the revolutionists would become active.

All day the soldiers paraded the streets, shooting, clubbing and stabbing Christians wherever found. The people had, however, shut themselves up in houses or in mission premises, so but five were killed, although a number were wounded.

The missionaries and the consuls were able to secure a promise from the leaders that they would leave the city. This promise was kept and the trouble died down. The resident of Van who sent the advices to the Presbyterian board says that the great danger, and it is an ever present danger, lay in the probable rising of the Kurds.

If they had come into the city, according to this informant, nothing could have prevented a massacre, both in the city and the villages. They had been waiting months for an opportunity to strike. But in response to the frequent telegrams sent by the consuls to Constantinople strong orders came forbidding the entrance into the city of the Hamidia Kurds—the sultan's "special service" troops.

"GOT THE HABIT."

Father and Son Have Voted Democracy for 115 Years.

Uniontown, Pa., Nov. 7.—An unbroken record of father and son having voted for every Democratic candidate for president from the beginning of the party up to the present time is perhaps represented by no other living man than Joseph Hayden, 88 years old, of this city, who will tomorrow support the democratic candidate for the eighteenth time in a presidential election and make a crowning record of father and son voting in every election extending over the entire history of 115 years of the United States government, from the first election of George Washington.

No other family can show a better record of faithfulness in voting and fealty to their party candidates than the Hayden family. Joseph Hayden's father, John Hayden, was a revolutionary soldier, and from the beginning of the political parties in the United States a democrat and voted that party's ticket up to his death in 1836, the same year that his son, Joseph, was first old enough to vote in a presidential election and thus carry forward uninterrupted the record of democratic voting.

Monster Project for New Mexico

Present indications are that a favorable report will be made at once on the proposition for a great irrigation dam just below the site of the Elephant butte project in the Mesilla valley and that it will be favorably considered by the government.

Not only are the reports of the engineers encouraging, but there has been a sudden and remarkable change of heart and front in El Paso, Texas, whence most of the opposition has come in the past. With the opposition of Mexico and the Texas delegation in congress removed, there is small doubt that the Elephant butte site would be utilized at a very early date.

Of its feasibility the Denver News gives the following interview with one of the reclamation engineers who has just come from a survey of this and other projects in New Mexico.

"The prospect for government construction of the lower Rio Grande irrigation project, the most stupendous irrigation scheme in the world, is very bright. Engineer Arthur Powell Davis of the reclamation service, accompanied by Engineer Harry A. Storrs, returned to Denver last night much pleased with their preliminary investigation of the immense project, the largest yet undertaken by the service."

The engineering features will consist of a dam 250 feet high and a quarter of a mile wide, located near Eagle, on the lower Rio Grande. This will back up the water 40 miles between the rock walls of the canyon. At the dam the water will be 175 feet deep. This will make the largest artificial reservoir in the world. It will conserve 2,000,000-acre feet, or 700,000,000,000 gallons of water at one time. This will make it twice as large as the great Pathfinder dam on the North Platte and much larger than the immense Salt river reservoir in Arizona.

In the dam itself there will be 414,000 cubic feet of masonry, 10 times that to be used in the Pathfinder dam, and 320,000 barrels of cement. The work on the reservoir alone will cost $5,200,000. The remaining $2,000,000 will be expended on the canal and diversion dams. Five years, it is estimated, will be taken to construct this marvelous piece of engineering.

The cost per acre for the construction will be $40, which would be considered high but for the excellent character and general fertility of the soil, which will bear fruit and alfalfa in abundance when sufficient moisture can be secured.

MONEY SPENT BY TOURISTS.

Switzerland Annually Collects $30,000,000 from Tourists.

It needed a painstaking German to figure out for us a set of statistics long desired, but of a sort that nobody cared to tackle the tedious or the difficulty of compiling them. These figures are the annual number of tourists in Europe and the amount of money they spend.

The German's estimates cover the totals in both items, and large as their number is, the Americans do not constitute quite the whole of the globe's yearly nomad population. But what quantity of Americans do visit the old world may be guessed from this German's compilations. Switzerland, he says, entertains 3,000,000 visitors, who spend $30,000,000.

Italy, the Riviera and Spain, between them, attract an expenditure of $60,000,000.

The various great capitals in all call $45,000,000 that come from the pockets of the 900,000 visitors to Paris, the 600,000 to London, the 500,000 to Berlin and the 250,000 to Vienna. The baths and seaside resorts accommodate 12,000,000 guests who spend over $15,000,000.

Flower Show at World's Fair.

St. Louis, Nov. 7.—The international flower show, for which preparations have been going forward for several months opened today in the Palace of Horticulture at the World's Fair. Florists of several foreign countries, together with many prominent florists of America, have sent choice specimens of the chrysanthemum and other flowers to compete for the liberal prizes offered by the fair management. Great crowds of visitors today inspected the exhibition, which occupies the entire eastern wing of the great building devoted to horticulture.

HEIR TO THE THRONE

FRANCIS FERDINAND AND AUSTRIA'S CROWN.

Young Man is Facing Difficult Problem of Holding the Polyglot Kingdom Together—He is Said to Lack Individuality and Be Under Clerical Domination—Is Very Unpopular with the Hungarians, but is Liked by the Bohemians.

Vienna, Nov. 7.—The most talked of person throughout the dual empire at the present time is Archduke Francis Ferdinand, nephew of Emperor Francis Joseph and heir presumptive to the throne. Attempts are no longer made to conceal the fact that the venerable emperor is fast sinking, and that it is only a question of months and perhaps weeks, before the Archduke will be called upon to ascend the throne of the Hapsburgs and take up the difficult task of maintaining order in the conglomerate empire and preventing it from falling asunder.

The Archduke, though still far from being popular, has succeeded in rising in the public regard, especially since hismorganatic marriage four years ago to Countess Chotek. From a rather wild and profligate bachelor he has been transformed into a model husband. The only fear expressed as to his prospective accession to the throne is that he will be a reactionary ruler. He lacks individuality and is known to be under the clerical influence of his wife. He is especially unpopular with the Hungarians and on more than one occasion he has shown great want of tact by wounding their national pride. He may be said to be popular only with the Bohemians, who look to gaining their autonomy under his rule, thanks to the influence of his wife, who is by birth a Czech.

DOG AS A WITNESS.

Wag of Canine's Tail Decides Sensational Robbery Case.

When a jury in the superior court of Trinity county, at Weaverville today awarded Ah Get, a Chinaman, a verdict of $597.45 against Charles Carr, it virtually decided that the robbery committed at the Carr mine on Trinity river, by a masked highwayman on September 13, last, was a fake, says the San Francisco Examiner. In that robbery the Chinaman lost $597.45 under very peculiar circumstances.

Carr had just had a settlement with him and had stacked the coin upon the table for Ah Get to take. Ah Get had just given a receipt in full for the money, when a masked robber entered and with a revolver held Carr and Ah Get at bay, took the coin and made his escape.

The Carr mine is at a lonely spot on Trinity river between Junction and Douglas City, a singular place for a bandit to appear at such an opportune moment. The more Ah Get thought about the incident, the less he thought it was a genuine robbery. He brought a civil suit to recover the money stolen. That was the case decided today. The jury decided that Ah Get was not only entitled to $597.45, which the alleged bandit took, but interest from the date of the holdup.

The account of the actions of a dog at the time of the robbery was importance evidence. Ah Get testified that the Carr dog always barked viciously when strangers came upon the premises, but when the supposed bandit came the dog was friendly and wagged his tail familiarly. There will be no criminal prosecution for the holdup, as it is believed that justice is satisfied by Ah Get getting justice for the spoils of the robbery with interest. The judgment is as good as coin, for the Carr mine is a valuable one.

Rise in Price of Paper.

Among the consequences of the Russo-Japanese war there is one at least which was not expected; it is the rise in the price of paper. Since the commencement of the conflict the American newspapers have increased their circulation to such an enormous degree that the paper industry cannot meet demands. Scandinavia, Germany and Finland have parted with all their reserves of pulp to American buyers. The Great Northern Paper Company, which had monopolized all the available stocks of pulp in Canada, has been compelled to limit production owing
